

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. A Suggestion to the Pupil

As you advance in your studies and are promoted to higher grades new and more difficult questions will continually arise. You will often feel the need of a larger and more complete dictionary to answer many puzzling questions in spelling, language work, history, geography, and science. A new dictionary,—WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE, Third Edition,—has just been issued to meet your needs. This new book is the largest and latest abridgment of WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL, the parent dictionary of the latest Merriam-Webster series, justly known as the One Supreme Authority. At school you probably have access to one or both of these dictionaries, but do you know that study at home is made easier and is more quickly accomplished when you have there the opportunity to use one of the larger dictionaries? Have you a NEW INTERNATIONAL or COLLEGIATE in your home?

PREFACE.

THE COMMON SCHOOL DICTIONARY here presented is compiled from Webster's International Dictionary of the English Language. As that work replaced Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, so this is designed to take the place of the Common School Dictionary originally prepared by Mr. William G. Webster, in 1857, and at various times revised and enlarged. The present volume is an entirely new work, and contains many words and definitions not to be found in its predecessors. Its purpose is to give the correct orthography, pronunciation, and definition of all words which pupils in Common Schools are likely to meet with.

The pronunciation of every word is clearly shown by respelling with phonetic markings that are explained in the key lines below the pages. For the first time in a school dictionary, the pronunciation of unaccented syllables is thus accurately indicated.

The addition of many new words, and the free use of illustrations to help in understanding the subject, have not excessively increased the bulk of the volume. Condensation has been accomplished by omitting definitions of derived words (mostly adverbs, adjectives, and abstract nouns) which are self-explaining as soon as the root word is understood; and, further, such derivatives have usually been grouped in the same paragraph with the root word, where this could be done without interrupting the alphabetical order. On the other hand, care has been taken to discriminate between words of the same spelling and pronunciation, but of different etymology and meaning. For instance, SOUND is a form representing four words of the same pronunciation but of widely different origin and sense. In older dictionaries such words appeared as one word with different meanings. This mode, tending to confuse or mislead the pupil, has been carefully avoided.

Teachers and students will notice that the Vocabulary presented in this book is nearly twice as full, and the treatment of words much more satisfactory, than has ever before been attempted in a Common School Dictionary. This has been accomplished by making the book a dictionary of English words, and by omitting such special lists and phrases as belong more properly to works of a higher grade.

KEY TO THE PRONUNCIATION.

In the respelling for pronunciation in this Dictionary, there is employed, as shown in the table, a symbol for every clear vowel or diphthongal sound in the language. The principal substitutions made with each consonant symbol are also noted below.

CONSONANTS.

g (hard): as in go, anger; for gu, as in guard; for gue, as in plague; for gh, as in ghost.
 s (surd, or sharp): as in so; for c, as in cell;
 for sc, as in science; for ss, as in hiss.
 z (like s sonant): as in zone; for s, as in is, wise, music; for x, as in Xenophon, xylography.
 ch (= tsh): as in chair, much; for tch, as in match.
 sh: for ch, as in machine, chaise; for ce,
 as in ocean; for ci, as in social; for sci,
 as in conscience; for s, as in sure; for se, as in nauseous; for si, as in pension; for ss, as in issue; for ssi, as in passion; for ti, as in nation.
 zh (= sh made sonant): for z, as in azure; for zi, as in glazier; for s, as in pleasure, usual; for si, as in vision; for g, as in rouge, cortège.
 j (= dzh): for g, as in gem, giant; for gi and ge, as in religion, pigeon; for dī, as in soldier; for dīg, as in knowledge.

k: for ch, as in chorus, anarchy; for c, as in cat; for ck, as in duck; for qu, as in conquer, coquette; for que, as in pique.
 kw: for qu, as in queen, quality.
 ks (surd): for x, as in vex, exit, dextrous.
 gz (sonant): for x, as in exist, exact, exam- ple.
 f: for ph, as in philosophy, triumph; for gh, as in rough.
 hw: for wh, as in what, why, where.
 t: for ed, as in baked, crossed; for th, as in thyme, Thomas.
 ng: as in long, singer; for ngue, as in tongue.
 ŋ (like ng): for n before the sound of k or hard g, as in bank, linger.
 n (the ordinary sound): as in no, none, man, many.
 th (sonant): for th, as in then, this, smooth, breath.
 th (surd): as in thin, through, breath, width.

NOTE. Foreign sounds are represented by the nearest English equivalents. Thus, u is employed, as the nearest English vowel we have, inexact as it is, to replace u French and ü German; and in like manner the ē for the eu French and ö German.

ACCENTS AND HYPHENS. The principal accent is indicated by a heavy mark (´), and the secondary accent by a lighter mark (˘), at the end of the syllable. Syllabic division is otherwise indicated by a light hyphen; a heavier hyphen joins members of compound words.

RULES FOR SPELLING CERTAIN CLASSES OF WORDS.

FOUNDED ON THE ORTHOGRAPHY OF DR. WEBSTER, AS EXHIBITED IN THIS VOLUME.

§ 1. The letters f and l, at the end of monosyllables, and standing immediately after single vowels, are generally doubled; as in staff, cliff, doff, puff; all, bell, hill, toll, null. The words clef, if, of, and sol, are exceptions.

§ 2. The letter s, at the end of a monosyllable, and after a single vowel, is generally doubled, except when used to form the possessive case or plural of a noun, or third person singular of a verb; as in grass, press, his, moss, truss. The only important exceptions are as, gas, has, was, yes, his, is, thus, and us.

§ 3. Besides f, l, and s, the only consonants doubled at the end of a word are b, d, g, m, n, p, r, t, and z. Words in which these letters are doubled are abb, ebb; add, odd, rudd; egg, mumm (to mask); inn, burn; wapp; gnarr, parr, err, birr, shirr, skirr, burr, purr; mill, butt; fizz, fuzz, buzz.

§ 4. A consonant standing at the end of a word immediately after a diphthong or double vowel is never doubled. The words all, peat, haul, door, and maim, are examples.

§ 5. Monosyllables ending, as pronounced, with the sound of k, and in which c follows the vowel, have usually k added after the c; as in black, knock, buck. The words lac, sac, talc, sinc, ploc, roc, soc, arc, marc, orc, and fisc, are exceptions.

Words of more than one syllable, ending in ic or tac, which formerly ended in k, also words derived from the Latin or Greek languages, or from other sources, or formed in an analogous manner, are now written without the k; as, maniac, music, public. The word derrick is an exception. Words of more than one syllable, in which c is preceded by other vowels than i or ia, commonly end in ck; as, arrack, barrack, hammock, hillock, wedlock. The words almanac, sandarac, limbec, zebec, manioc, and havoc, are exceptions.

§ 6. In derivatives formed from words ending in c, by adding a termination beginning with e, i, or y, the letter k is inserted after the c, in order that the letter may not be inaccurately pronounced like s before the following vowel: as, colic, colicky; traffic, trafficked, trafficking, trafficker; sinc, sinky.

§ 7. In derivatives formed by adding a termination beginning with a vowel to monosyllables and words accented on the last syllable, when these words end in a single consonant (except x) preceded by a single vowel, that consonant is doubled; as, clan, clannish; plan, planned, planning, planner; hot, hotter, hottest; wit, witty; cabal, caballer; abel, abelled, abelling, abettor; infer, inferred, inferring.

The derivatives of the word gas (except gassed, gassing, and gassy) are written with but one s; as, gaseous, gaseity, gasify. Ex'cellence, as being from the Latin excellens, retains the double l, though one l has been dropped from the termination of excel. It is no exception to this rule that chancellor, and the derivatives of metal and crystal, as metalloid, metallurgy, crystalline, crystallise, and the like, are written with the l doubled, since they are derived respectively from the Latin cancellarius (through the French), and metallum, and the Greek κρυσταλλος. So also the word tranquillity retains the double l as being from the Latin tranquillitas, while the English derivatives of tranquil, though often written with two l's, are more properly written with only one, as tranquillize, tranquillizer, and the like.

§ 8. When a diphthong, or a digraph representing a vowel sound, precedes the final consonant of a word, or the accent of a word ending in a single consonant falls on any other syllable than the last, or when the word ends in two different consonants, the final consonant is not doubled in derivatives formed by the addition of a termination beginning with a vowel: as, daub, daubed, dauber; need, needy; rev'el, rev'eled, rev'eeling; travel, travel'ing, travel'er; prof'u, prof'ud; stand, standing.

The final consonant is doubled in the derivatives of a few words ending in g, in order to diminish the liability to its being pronounced like j, before e or i: as, humbug, humbugged, humbugging; periwig, periwigg'd. The word woolen is more generally thus written, in the United States, with one l; but in England it is written woollen.

NOTE.—There is a large class of words ending in a single consonant, and accented on some other syllable than the last, the final consonants of which are, by very many writers and lexicographers, doubled in their derivatives, unnecessarily and contrarily to analogy. These words are chiefly those ending in l, with also a few of other terminations. The following list, the words in which are chiefly verbs, includes the most important of those in regard to which usage varies: namely, appear, barrel, bevel, bias, bowel, and its compounds, caneel, carburel, and all similar words ending in uret, cavil, carrol, channel, chisel, compromit, counsel, cudgel, dial, dishevel, dowel, drivel, duel, empanel, enamel, equal, fumper, gambol, gravel, grovel, handels, hatches, imperil, jewel, kennel, kidnap, label, laurel, level, libel, marshal, marvel, medal, metal, model, panel, parallel, parcel, pencil, peril, pistol, pommel, quarrel, ravel, revel, rival, rowel, shovel, shrivel, snivel, tassel, tinsel, trammel, travel, tunnel, unravel, vial, victual, worship. In this Dictionary, the derivatives of these words are made to conform to the rule, as recommended by Walker, Lowth, Parry, and other eminent scholars.

§ 9. Derivatives formed from words ending in a double consonant, by adding one or more syllables, commonly retain both consonants: as, ebb, ebbing; odd, oddly; stiff, stiffness; fell, fellable; skill, skillful, skillfulness; will, willful, willfulness; dull, dullness; full, fullness. So also the double l is retained in the words installment, inthrallment, thralldom, and enrollment (from install, inthrall, thrall, and enroll), in order to prevent the false pronunciation they might receive if spelled with one l. Many writers and lexicographers, especially in England, omit one l in these words, as also in the derivatives of skill, will, dull, and full, formed by adding the syllables ly and ness.

The derivatives of pontiff are exceptions to the rule, being written with only one f; as, pontifical, pontifical, pontifical, and the like. One l also is dropped in a few words formed by adding the termination ly to words ending in ll, in order to prevent the concurrence of three l's: as, ill, illy; dull, dully; full, fully.

§ 10. In derivatives formed from words ending with silent e, the e is generally retained when the termination begins with a consonant: as, pale, paleness; hate, hateful; move, movement. When, however, the e is immediately preceded by another vowel (except e), it is often dropped from the derivative: as, due, duly; ave, awful; and derivatives and compounds of these words.

The words wholly, nursing, wisdom, abridgment, acknowledgment, lodgment, judgment, and the compounds of some of these, are exceptions. The last four, however, are written, by many authors, abridgement, acknowledgement, lodgement, judgement.

§ 11. In derivatives formed from words ending with silent e, when the termination begins with a vowel, the e is generally omitted, except in the cases mentioned in the next paragraph: as, bride, bridal; use, usage; come, coming; shape, shaping; move, movable; fleece, fleecy; force, forcible.

The e is retained in the words hoeing, shoeting, and toeing (from hoe, shoe, and toe), in order to prevent doubt as to the pronunciation. It is retained, also, in the words dyeing, stingeing, springeing, swingeing, tingeing (from dye, sting, springe, swing, tinge), to distinguish them from dying, stinging, springing, swinging, tinging (from die, sing, spring, swing, ting). The word mileage, as commonly written, does not omit the e, though it is sometimes, and more correctly, spelled milage. The words lineage, lineal, and pineal, though apparently exceptions, are not really such, since they are derived not directly from line and pine, but from the Latin linea (through the French), linealis, and pineae. The e, standing in a derivative, before a termination beginning with a r or o, and immediately after c or g, is retained in order to preserve the soft sounds of these consonants: as, peace, peaceable; notice, noticeable; manage, manageable; change, changeable; advantage, advantageous; outrage, outrageous; mortgage, mortgageor. The latter word is sometimes very improperly written mortgagor, and pronounced mor'ga-jor.

§ 12. In derivatives formed from words ending in ie, by adding the termination ing, the e is dropped, and the i changed to y, in order to prevent two i's from coming together: as, die, dying; vie, vying.

§ 13. In derivatives of words ending in y preceded by a consonant, and formed by appending any termination except one beginning with t, the y is usually changed into i: as, icy, iciest, icily; mercy, merciless; foggy, foggiest; pity, pitiful.

The derivatives of adjectives of one syllable ending in y preceded by a consonant, are exceptions, and usually retain the y: as, shy, shyness. But the adjectives drier and driest, from dry, are commonly written with i instead of y. Derivatives formed by adding the termination ship, as secretaryship, suretyship, ladyship, and the like, also retain the y. The words babyhood and ladykin are likewise exceptions. The y is also retained in the possessive case singular of nouns, when formed by adding s with the apostrophe: as, country's, everybody's.

§ 14. Derivatives formed by affixing a termination to words ending in y preceded by a vowel, generally retain the y unchanged: as, gay, gayety, gayly; obey, obeying; joy, joyful; gluey, glueyness.

The words daily, laid, paid, said, sath, slain, and staid (from day, lay, pay, say, slay, and staid), with their compounds, are exceptions. Staid, however, is sometimes written stayed. Derivatives from words ending in wy, as colloquies, from colloquy, are not exceptions to the rule, as u, in such cases, is not strictly a vowel, but stands for the consonant w.

§ 15. Derivatives formed by appending a syllable beginning with a vowel to words ending with a vowel sound, generally retain the letter or letters representing such sound: as, huzza, huzzaed; agree, agreeable, agreeing; weigh, weighing; bow, bowed; beau, beaming.

Derivatives of words of this class ending in silent e, as also those formed from words ending in double e by adding a termination beginning with e, drop the final e: as, hoe, hoed; agree, agreed. The cases mentioned in sections 11, 12, and 13 are also exceptions.

§ 16. Derivatives formed by prefixing one or more syllables to words ending in a double consonant commonly retain both consonants: as, rebuff, befall, inthrall, foretell, fulfill, emboss (from buff, fall, thrall, tell, fill, boss).

The word until is an exception, being always written with one l. Those words of this class which end in ll are written by some authors, especially in England, with one l: as, befall, inthrall, foretell, fulfill, enrol. The words distill and instill should be written with the l doubled, though they are often written distil and instil, with only one l.

§ 17. Compound words formed by joining two or more words commonly retain all the letters of the simple words: as, stiff-necked, wide-mouthed.

There are numerous exceptions to this rule, many of them compounds which by long use have acquired the force of single words. They are the following: namely, some compounds of all and well; as, almighty, almost, alone, already, also, although, altogether, always, withal, therewithal, wherewithal, welcome, welfare; — compounds of mass: as, Christmas, Michaelmas, etc.; — words of which the second part is the adjective full: as, artful, woeful; — also, the words chilblain, fulfill, namesake, neckerchief, numskull, pastime, standish, and wherever.

§ 18. The plural of nouns regularly ends in s, or, in certain classes of words, in es.

When the noun in the singular ends with such a sound that the sound of s can unite with it and be pronounced without forming a separate syllable, s only is added in forming the plural: as, sea, seas; woe, woes; canto, cantos; claw, claws; chief, chiefs; path, paths; gem, gems; act, acts. A few plurals from nouns ending in o preceded by a consonant, end in es: as, echo, echoes; cargo, cargoes; potato, potatoes. Other nouns of this class generally form their plurals regularly, though usage differs with regard to some of them. Those in which final o is preceded by a vowel form their plurals regularly. The plural of alkali is written alkalis or alkalies; that of rabbi, either rabbis or rabbets. With regard to other nouns ending in i usage differs, though they are more properly written with the termination is.

When the noun in the singular ends with such a sound (as that of ch, sh, j, s, z, or x) that the sound of s can not unite with it in pronunciation, but must form a separate syllable, e is inserted before s in forming the plural, unless the word ends with silent e, in which case the latter serves to form a separate syllable with s: as, church, churches; age, ages; lace, laces; gas, gases; maze, mazes.

To express the plural of a letter, figure, or any character or sign, or of a word mentioned without regard to its meaning, the letter s, generally preceded by the apostrophe, is appended, as in the phrases, "The two 's in all;" "The two

's in 400;" "The why's and wherefore's of the question."

§ 19. Nouns ending in y preceded by a consonant form their plural by adding es and changing y into i: as, mercy, mercies; sky, skies; pity, pities. This rule includes words ending in guy, in which u, being pronounced like w, is strictly a consonant: as, colloquy, colloquies. The plural of proper nouns ending in y preceded by a consonant, is formed by changing y into ies, according to the rule: as, "The three Maries." Many writers, however, form the plural of such words by simply adding s: as, "The three Marys."

When the singular of a noun ends in y preceded by a vowel (except u having the power of w), the plural is regularly formed by adding s only: as, day, days; key, keys; money, moneys; attorney, attorneys; alloy, alloys; guy, guys. Some plurals of the latter class are often inaccurately written with the termination tes: as, momies, attorneys, and the like.

§ 20. The plurals of a few nouns ending in f or fe are irregularly formed by changing f or fe into ves. The following words, with their compounds, are the principal examples: namely, life, lives; knife, knives; wife, wives; leaf, leaves; sheaf, sheaves; loaf, leaves; beef, beeves; thief, thieves; calf, calves; half, halves; elf, elves; shelf, shelves; self, selves; wolf, wolves. The plural of staff is sometimes written staffs, but more commonly staves, except when it means a corps of officers, either military or civil, in which sense it is always written staffs. The plural of wharf is generally written wharfs in England; in the United States it is more commonly, but improperly written wharves, as it is also by some recent English writers. The plurals of hoof and turf, formerly written hooves and turves, are now written hoofs and turfs. The plurals of other nouns ending in f, fe, or ff, are formed regularly by the addition of s only.

§ 21. In the following nouns, the plural is distinguished from the singular only by a change of the vowel or vowel sound of the word: namely, man, men; woman, women; goose, geese; foot, feet; tooth, teeth; brother, brethren; louse, lice; mouse, mice. Words which end in the syllable man, and are not compounds, form their plurals regularly, by adding s only: as, cayman, caymans; desman, desmans; firman, firmans; talisman, talismans; German, Germans; Mussulman, Mussulmans.

§ 22. A few plurals end in en: namely, brother, brethren; child, children; ox, oxen. To these may be added the obsolete forms eyne, kine, shoon, hosen, housen (from eye, cow, shoe, hose, house), the first three of which, though they have received a slightly different form, end, as pronounced, with the sound of n.

§ 23. The words brother, die, pea, and penny, have each two plurals of different forms and with different significations: as, brothers, male children of the same parent, also, members of the same society, association, class, or profession; brethren, members of the same religious or ecclesiastical body, the word in this form being rarely used except in religious writings, or in scriptural language, where it also has the same meaning that brothers has in ordinary language; dies, implements for making impressions by stamping, or for making screws, also the cubical parts of pedestals; dice, the cubical blocks used in games of chance; peas, seeds of the pea plant, when a definite number is mentioned; pease, the same in bulk, or spoken of collectively; pennies, the coins, especially when a definite number is mentioned; pence, the amount reckoned by these coins.

§ 24. A few words, mostly names of animals, have the same form in the plural as in the singular: as, deer, sheep, trout, and the like.

§ 25. Many words adopted from foreign languages retain their original plurals: as, datum, data: criterion, criteria; genus, genera; larva, larvæ: crisis, crises; matrix, matrices; focus, foci: monsieur, messieurs.

Many words of this class, while retaining the original plurals, have also a second, formed after the analogy of English words of similar termination: as, formula, formule, or formulas; beau, beaux, or beaus; index, indices, or indexes; stratum, strata, or stratums; bandit, banditti, or bandits; cherub, cherubim, or cherubs: seraph, seraphim, or seraphs. The plurals of the last two words are sometimes incorrectly written cherubims and seraphims, with double plural terminations, from ignorance or forgetfulness of the fact that, in Hebrew words, im is a plural ending.

§ 26. In certain loose compounds consisting of a noun followed by an adjective or other qualifying expression, the plural is commonly formed by making the same change in the noun as when it stands alone: as, court-martial, courts-martial; cousin-german, cousins-german; son-in-law, sons-in-law. When, however, the adjective is so closely joined to the noun that the compound has the force of a simple word, the plural of the compound is commonly formed like that of any other word of the same termination: as, cupful, cupfuls: handful, handfuls.

§ 27. There are many words, besides those mentioned in the preceding paragraphs, in respect to which usage, even that of the best authors, is variable. The most important of these words are mentioned in this and the succeeding sections.

The derivatives of the word villain, as villainous, villainy, etc., though often written villainous, villany, etc., properly retain the i, like those of other words similarly ending in ain: as, mountainous, from mountain; captaincy, from captain.

The words connection, deflection, inflection, and reflection follow the spelling of the words connect, deflect, inflect, and reflect, though often written, especially in England, connezion, deflexion, inflexion, and reflexion.

The word woe, though often written without the final e, should retain it, like most other nouns of one syllable and of similar form: as, doe, foe, hoe, toe, and the like. Monosyllables other than nouns, and words of more than one syllable, having a similar termination, omit the e; as, do, go, no, so, canto, motto, potato.

The words defense, expense, offense, and prelense are properly written thus, though often spelled with c instead of s, for the s belongs to the words from which they are derived, and is also used in all their derivatives.

The words drought and height were formerly written drouth and hight, and are still very often thus written in America.

The verb practice is thus written like the noun, in preference to the form practise, though the latter spelling is used by many writers, especially in England. The difference in spelling between the noun and the verb is properly observed, in words of this kind, only in such as are accented on the last syllable, as device, devise.

Derivatives of the Greek εδοα (seat, base, side; pronounced hed'ra), as polyhedron, tetrahedron, octahedron, and the like, are properly thus written with h before the e of the termination, but are sometimes written polyedron, tetraedron, octaedral, etc., without the h.

§ 28. There is a class of words beginning with en or in, as enclose or inclose, enquire or inquire, ensure or insure, and the like, many of which take either form of the prefix indifferently. They are chiefly derived from the Latin, either directly or through the French, the prefix in belonging to the former language, and en to the latter. In some of these words, en is to be preferred; in others, in; in many of them, either may be used indifferently.

§ 29. There is a class of words ending in er, some of which are written by many authors with the termination re; as, center, meter, theater, etc., which are often written centre, metre, theatre, etc. Acre, chancre, lucre, nacre, massacre, and ogre, retain the termination re, in order to preserve the hard sound of the c and g.

§ 30. There are two classes of chemical words ending respectively, as more commonly written, in ide and ine, in regard to which usage has been variable. Most of them were formerly written without the final e; but it is now the almost universal practice to retain it: as, bromide, iodide, chlorine, fluorine, etc. The word tannin is always written without the final e. Oxide is now generally written with the termination ide, though formerly by many written oxyd, from the supposition that the y of the last syllable represented the v of the Greek δξυς, from which the word is derived; whereas the last syllable is simply the same as the termination of the words bromide, sulphide, and the like.

§ 31. There is a class of words ending, as pronounced, with the sound of long i, followed by s, some of which are differently written, by different authors, with either ise or ize to represent this sound: as, criticize or criticise; patronize or patronise. These words are mostly verbs, and are chiefly derived from Greek words ending in ισος, or from French words ending in iser or isee. Those formed from Greek words have the termination ize: as, anathematize, characterize, dramatize, tantalyze. The words catechise and exorcise are exceptions. Those formed in an analogous manner from English words are likewise written with ise: as, albumenise, memorize, sensitize. Those derived from the French verb prendre (participle pris or prise) end in ise: as, apprise, comprise, emprise, enterprise, surprise. Of those formed from French words other than prendre, or which have corresponding forms in the French, a majority end in ise, though in respect to some of them usage is variable: as, civilize, satirize. The following are the principal English verbs ending in ise: namely, advertise, advise, enfranchise, apprise, catechise, chastise, circumcise, comprise, compromise, criticize, demise, despise, devise, disenfranchise, disfranchise, disguise, divertise, emprise, enfranchise, enterprise, exercise, exorcise, franchise, manumise, misprise, premise, reprise, revise, supervise, surmise, surprise. It may be remarked that most of those in respect to which usage varies are more frequently written in England with the termination ise, and in the United States with the termination ize.

§ 32. The words mold and molt, and their compounds and derivatives, are written in this Dictionary with o instead of ou, in analogy with the words bold, bolt, colt, gold, etc., from which the u has been dropped. Many authors, however, write these words mould and moult, and their derivatives in like manner.

§ 33. There is a numerous class of words almost universally written, in the United States, with the termination or, many of which are written, in England, with the termination our: as, candor, honor, labor, vigor. English usage, however, is not uniform with respect to these words, many being written with or in English books.

§ 34. There is a small class of words ending with the syllable ped (from Lat. pes, pedis, foot), the termination of some of which was formerly, and is still frequently, written pede: as, biped, centiped, milliped, quadruped, soliped, etc. The words biped and quadruped are universally written without the final e, and the others, according to the best usage, should be written in the same manner.
